

Ignacio Videla

Violist, based in Maastricht

Weddings, private events, concerts, club nights with DJs and studio sessions.

Limits are trained, not inherited.

Ignacio Videla Ruiz is an Argentine-Spanish violist based in Maastricht, where he is studying for a Master of Music at Conservatorium Maastricht with Mihai Cocea, principal viola of the Brussels Philharmonic.

He has spent nine years on stage: in symphony orchestras in Argentina, in recital halls, at weddings, and next to DJs in front of full dance floors. He also composes and writes his own arrangements, so a song that matters to you can become a piece for viola.

Off stage he trains as a strength and endurance athlete, and he brings the same focus and stamina to every performance.

What I can play for you

Solo, with piano, alongside a DJ or with my own string quartet. Every set is planned with you.

Concerts and recitals

From Bach's suites to 20th-century music, and sonatas with piano. Programmes of 30 to 90 minutes.

Chamber music

Duos, trios and quartets, including my own string quartet, or formed for the occasion.

Private and corporate events

Receptions, gala dinners, openings and launches, as background music or as a featured moment.

Weddings

Music for the entrance, the vows and the exit, then the cocktail hour and dinner. Classics, film themes or your own song.

Live with DJs

Viola played live over electronic sets: club nights, festivals, rooftops and after-parties.

Studio and film

String lines for producers' tracks, soundtracks, ads and video shoots.

Arrangements

Custom arrangements so any song can become a piece for viola or a small ensemble. I also compose.

Lessons and workshops

Viola lessons and educational projects for schools and amateur musicians.

A taste of the repertoire

Can't find your song? I arrange any song on request, and I also compose original music for your event.
